Grand Jury Hearing Brink Case Stories After Big FBI Roundup

Boston, Jan. 13 (AP)—Joseph J. "Specs" O'Keefe, 47, one of 11 men named by the FBI as perpetrators of the fabulous $1,218,111 Brink's robbery six years ago, went into Suffolk county courthouse under heavy guard today to tell a grand jury what he knows about the nation's biggest haul.

Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne told newsmen he would first address the grand jury himself.

Shortly before 11 a. m. Byrne and his two assistants, Frederick T. Doyle and John F. McAuliffe, walked into the jury room where 19 grand jurors, including three women, waited.

Asked if he got a full statement from O'Keefe last night, Byrne made it clear he could not disclose—except to the grand jury—anything O'Keefe said.

O'KEEFE HAD a hearty breakfast at Middlesex county jail in nearby East Cambridge before being taken—handcuffed —to the courthouse by Boston Police Capt. Francis G. Wilson, Sgt. John Howland and four state troopers.

Byrne said he would ask for indictments against 10 individuals. Six were taken into custody yesterday by the FBI in swift raids. Two others are still at large. O'Keefe and another man are serving prison terms. The 11th member of the group is dead.

THE FIRST witness to go into the grand jury room was Thomas B. Lloyd, one of the Brink's workers who was held up the night of January 17, 1950. He was escorted into the room by Capt. Wilson who carried a large manila envelope stuffed with documents.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover yesterday announced "solution" of the case, how the robbery was committed and the 11 men allegedly involved.

Shortly before Hoover's announcement, six of the 11 were rounded up by the FBI in greater Boston. Two others already were in prison on other charges, two are still at large and one died last year of natural causes.

NONE of the loot was recovered.

The federal government turned the case over to the state for prosecution. State law enforcers announced that a grand jury would begin hearing evidence today against the 10 living men.

The federal complaints charged conspiracy to violate U. S. laws—bank robbery and theft of government property. The FBI's jurisdiction is based upon the fact that cash, checks, postal notes and United States money orders of the Federal Reserve Bank and the Veterans Administration district office in Boston were included in the loot.

UNDER Massachusetts law the men, if convicted, could be sentenced to life imprisonment because masks were used in the robbery.

Within hours of Hoover's announcement, the six newly-arrested men were arraigned before a federal commissioner and held in bail totaling $670,000.

The FBI has been working on the case relentlessly since the men—their faces covered with grotesque masks—went through six locked doors of the Brink's money-carrying firm on the second floor of a waterfront garage and surprised five guards.

HOOPER REFUSED to disclose how the case was broken saying the evidence must be protected for the trial.

However, Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne of Suffolk county, Boston, dropped a hint that one of the men named as a participant has provided valuable information to law enforcers.

Byrne said Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, 47, of Boston, will be a principal witness before the Suffolk county jury, which was to begin hearing evidence against the suspects today.

THE FEDERAL government turned the case over to the state for prosecution because state penalties are heavier than federal law allows.

O'Keefe was closeted with Byrne for more than five hours last night in a secret discussion of the Brink's case.

O'Keefe was one of the men in jail at the time of Hoover's announcement yesterday. He is doing 27 months in Hampden county jail, Springfield, for violating his probation on a gun-carrying charge.

HE WAS BROUGHT to Boston to confer with the district attorney and later was taken under heavy guard to Middlesex county jail in nearby Cambridge.

The six men arraigned yesterday were placed in Suffolk county jail, Boston, pending the grand jury action.

The other man already in prison is Stanley A. Gusciora, 36, doing 5-20 years in Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh, Pa., for a sporting goods store robbery.

ARRESTED in yesterday's FBI roundup were:

Henry Baker, 49, Natick; Adolph Maffie, 44, North Quincy; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, Boston; Vincent J. Costa, 41, Pembroke, Mass.; Michael V. Geagan, 47, Milton, and Anthony Pino, 48, Boston.

Still at large are Thomas F. Richardson, 48, Weymouth, and James I. Faherty, 44, Boston. Joseph F. Banfield, 45, Boston, the 11th man named by the FBI, died of natural causes last year. All 11 have criminal records.

GRAND JURY proceedings against the 10 survivors comes just five days short of the sixth anniversary of the fantastic robbery in which the men got not only the biggest cash haul but also more than a million and a half dollars in checks, money orders and securities.

Hoover said the men planned the robbery for a year before it actually came off. Included in the preparations were several "trial runs."

Hoover said the men approached the Brink's headquarters in the brick and concrete public garage in Boston's teeming north end in a small truck.

IN THE TRIP of a few miles from the Roxbury district, seven of the men donned navy-type pea jackets, (short coats) visored caps and foolish Halloween masks. All were armed with pistols.

On a flashlight signal from one of the gang on a nearby rooftop, the men entered the building and went through six locked doors with keys they had obtained while planning the job.

The robbers went up a flight of stairs, through a hallway and

Program Is Set to Cut Accidents

Harriman Calls For Road Safety

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Gov. Harriman proposed to the Legislature today a sweeping program designed to reduce highway accidents and give financial protection to motorists injured by uninsured drivers.

THE GOVERNOR sent two special messages to the lawmakers in which he called for:

1. Compulsory annual inspection of automobiles and trucks more than five years old.
2. Compulsory physical examination of any driver involved in a fatal accident or any involved in repeated accidents; also a compulsory eye test for any driver over 60 when he applies for a renewal permit—if his eyesight "usually shows measurable change." Later, such tests would be required for persons over 45.

3. Empowering the motor vehicle commissioner to treat bail forfeiture in traffic cases as convictions "for the purpose of taking license action against habitual and persistent violators."

4. Empowering the commissioner to suspend the license of any driver who has repeatedly failed to honor a ticket or court summons.

5. Requiring that all new cars sold in New York state, beginning with 1958 models, be equipped with safety door locks.
6. Prohibiting anyone to drive while under the influence of narcotics.

7. Adoption of uniform traffic laws.

IN ADDITION, the governor said the state would give financial assistance to local authorities to establish adult driver-education classes.

Harriman proposed that

Bills Ready On Future Youth Court

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—The State Temporary Commission on the Courts announced that bills are being introduced in the Legislature at Albany today for establishment of a statewide system of "youth court" procedures in the existing county courts.

THE COMMISSION, which recommended the proposed legislation, said in a statement that it "would make possible immediate action to help meet the problem of the growing rate of youthful crime."

The commission said the twin bills are being introduced by two of its members—Sen. John M. Hughes, Syracuse Republican, and Assemblyman Leonard Farberstein, New York city Democrat.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT said "The procedures are designed to reduce delay in handling young offenders to a minimum."

The committee statement gave

DA St. John to Receive Junior Chamber Awards

District Attorney Howard C. St. John of Ulster county will be the recipient of both the state and Kingston area Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Awards during banquets scheduled for next week.

He is scheduled to receive the state award, also to be given to four other outstanding young men between the ages of 21 and 35, during a banquet and ball at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn, according to an announcement made public today by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The local Jaycees, who will take part in the nationwide celebration of Jaycee Week from January 14-21 also will honor District Attorney St. John as their selection for the local Distinguished Service Award at a kickoff banquet for Jaycee Week on Monday night at the Moose Lodge.

Jaycee Week in Kingston was officially proclaimed on Thursday by Mayor Frederick H. Stang who pointed to the benefits of the Jaycees helping through their projects for community betterment and that the organization was building leadership within its ranks for the future of Kingston.

The mayor's proclamation was in observance of the founding of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce on January 21, 1920, in St. Louis, Mo.

Committee chairman for the local Jaycee award presentation has been John Shults, Jr. Working with Marvin Millens, chairman of Jaycee Week, are Herbert Gindele and Robert Stedje.

York state vice-president; Herbert Gindele, member of the Jaycee Week committee; Marvin Millens, chairman of Jaycee Week; Chester Dill, local Jaycee secretary and John Shults, chairman of the Distinguished Service Award committee. (Freeman photo).

Island Dock Plans Modern Cement Block Manufacture

Plans for a modern concrete block plant to be built on Abel street were announced today by Island Dock Inc.

Ground is being cleared and prepared for the building and machinery has been ordered. It will be built near the Abel street entrance to the Island Dock yard.

Detailed plans and specifications for the new plant have not been completed, it was indicated today, but they are expected to be finished soon and construction is due to start in the near future.

The plant will operate separately from that now in operation, and it is expected that, with the new plant, present capacity will be quadrupled.

The company announced that "Through use of newly developed engineering principles and electronic controls, the new plant will represent the ultimate in modern planning and design. Actuated by push-buttons, and controlled automatically, the whole manufacturing process will assure the highest standard of quality."

Henry R. Brigham, Island Dock sales manager, commenting on the new plant said: "With this investment, we are reaffirming our faith in the continued development of Kingston and the Mid-Hudson Valley."

Claims U.S. Air Power Prevents Red Attack

Oklahoma City, Jan. 13 (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining declared today that America's air power—not its land and sea forces—has kept Russia from attacking the United States.

"The Soviets fear our power in the air, and air power has been the main reason for our peace and safety so far," the air force chief of staff said in a speech prepared for the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce.

Twining conceded that air power had not deterred the Communists from invading South Korea, and had not saved the French from defeat in Indochina. But he said these happenings did not detract from "the one important fact" that, as he put it: "Our American air power has kept the one great potential enemy from attacking us. That has been and will be the real danger to us here at home."

Twining said the Soviets do not fear American land and naval power because the U.S.S.R. has "overwhelming strength on the ground" and is not dependent upon using the seas.

The air chief said the Soviets will hold back only so long as they know they would be the heavy loser in any war. Twining declared that the United States now has the strength and the capability to drive home this lesson, with air power "so strong and ready that it can survive any desperate attack and hit back with devastating and crippling blows."

The air general said the United States is concerned with the growing size of the Soviet Air Force, but far more perturbed by its "rapidly improving quality." He described the current arms race as "a race for quality—for better, more effective weapons," and added:

"Today we are in a good position in this race. Our position tomorrow depends on what we are doing now."

State First To Vote in Whole U.S.

Senator Against Creating Slate

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.) said today he will fight any attempt to "corner" New Hampshire's Republican delegation for any other candidate if President Eisenhower doesn't run again.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, told reporters that if persons close to the White House attempt to name a slate in the March 13 primary in his state, he may file his own name as a delegate candidate.

"I UNDERSTAND there is to be no slate chosen among the list of candidates for delegate, all of whom will be favorable to President Eisenhower," he said. "If any effort is made to create a slate and to corner the delegation I probably will become a candidate myself."

Bridges, who is friendly to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), made it clear he is opposed to election of a New Hampshire delegation previously committed to any candidate Eisenhower might designate if he decides not to seek a second term.

ALTHOUGH he didn't say so, it obviously was Bridges' belief that Sherman Adams and others in the administration hope for such a result in the New Hampshire primary. Adams, a former governor of the state, is Eisenhower's No. 1 aide in the White House.

Bridges made it no secret that he wants at least part of the state's 14-vote delegation to have a free choice among candidates at the party's nominating convention if Eisenhower doesn't run.

The New Hampshire vote is the first in the nation. Bridges said he expects the same results as in 1952, with Eisenhower sweeping the Republican preferential vote and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee winning in the Democratic contest.

FOUR YEARS ago, Kefauver won over former President Truman, who made no campaign for votes and who announced shortly thereafter he would not seek reelection.

Kefauver's backers yesterday obtained petitions to file his name in the April 17 primary in New Jersey. No other prominent candidate for the Democratic nomination has yet indicated an intent to run in that state.

Bridges said yesterday's announcement by Gov. Lane Dwilneth that he would file Eisenhower's name in the New Hampshire primary came as "no surprise to me."

"FROM THE information I have," Bridges said, "the President will consent to his name remaining on the ballot, either by a statement or by acquiescence."

Bridges added, however, that as far as he can see this "doesn't mean anything" in connection with disclosing Eisenhower's plans about a possible second term.

The President has indicated he has made a tentative decision but could change his mind. He has not indicated what the decision would be.

$86 Million State Surplus

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Gov. Harriman will wind up the state's fiscal year March 31 with approximately $86 million dollars more in the till than he expected—and he definitely will go ahead with his 50-million dollar tax-cut program.

But in disclosing this cushion yesterday, the Democratic governor said "true" surplus was only 38 million dollars.

A Republican legislative fiscal expert challenged Harriman's statement. The expert, who did not want his name used, said:

"All politics aside, $86 million dollars is the true surplus. In saying it is 38 million the governor is giving an entirely new definition of the word surplus—one different from the traditional concept." Republican legislative leaders had predicted a 100-million-dollar surplus.

Matches, Smoking Play Big Role in U. S. Fire Loss

Matches and smoking play a big role in the nation's annual fire loss, Fire Chief James M. Brett stressed today in citing figures by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

In 10 years, the report shows, matches and smoking accounted for 27 per cent of fire causes, resulting in a reported property loss of $543,341,831, or 18 per cent of the decade's total fire loss of $2,645,186,650.

Misuse of electricity was listed as the next heavy cause of fires. This accounts for 14 per cent of fire causes, and resulted in a reported property loss of $405,996,793, or 16 per cent of the decade's total fire loss.

The two add up to more than a third of fire causes.

The all-time high to date for a year's fire losses was the $870,984,000 reported in 1954.

Teamster Union Violence Denied

Reports of violence at last night's meeting of Teamsters Local 445, AFL, at the Court House were denied today by the sheriff's office and Kingston police.

A blotter notation at police headquarters said Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Edward Edwards were dispatched to the meeting at 8:25 p. m.

Spokesmen at the sheriff's office and police headquarters said they had not received any reports of "fist fights."

Attorney Francis Martocci, who represents the insurgent group of the local headed by Theodore G. Daley, secretary-treasurer, said there were "no disturbances."

Mr. Martocci said the meeting was for the purpose of reporting on the progress of "present litigation" and to give the membership in the Kingston area an opportunity to air their grievances, of which "there were a great, great many," Mr. Martocci said.

Opposes State Tax Cut

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—The New York Farm Bureau, now revamped to give it a greater voice in public affairs, jumped into the state legislative picture today with a statement opposing proposed 50 million dollar income tax reductions. Don J. Wickham of Hector, president of the farm group, issued the first flat statement of the organization's stand on a statewide issue since its separation from the extension service, became effective on Jan. 1. In letters to Gov. Harriman and legislative leaders of both parties, Wickham said the tax cut proposal of both Republicans and Democrats "appears to lack merit."

Ave Not Worried

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman says Adlai Stevenson will find slim pickings among New York's delegates to the Democratic national convention. The governor told a news conference late yesterday that he expected "pretty solid support from New York's 98-vote delegation, which will be the biggest prize package at Chicago next August. Harriman said he did not think the Stevenson forces would make any 'substantial progress' in lining up New York delegates."

Says Service Poor

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—The Public Service Commission declared today that the on-time performance of the New York Central Railroad had been "very poor" in recent months. The commission called a hearing for Feb. 2 to look into the matter. The PSC said it had received "a number of complaints about the railroad's service." The commission did not elaborate. All railroads operating in New York state are required to file monthly reports with the PSC regarding on-time performance.

May Identify Bodies

Quito, Ecuador, Jan. 13 (AP)—The arrival of a ground search party at a campsite in rugged Aca Indian country was awaited today to identify four bodies believed those of missing American missionaries. There was no report on a fifth missing evangelist. A U. S. Air Force helicopter crew which remained at the scene—reported finding the bodies last night. Its messages did not identify any of the victims. The 29-man ground party was about 10 miles from the camp last night.

Broady Gets 2-4 Years

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—Private Detective John G. (Steve) Broady, 52, was sentenced to two to four years in state prison on wiretapping charges. General Sessions Judge Jonah J. Goldstein said illegal wiretapping is "a slimy activity which

FBI Is Given 100 Cases Monthly, Officers Learn

Early statistics for 1955 show that the FBI received an average of about 100 cases of alleged violations of Federal Civil Rights statutes for investigation each month, James J. Kelly, special agent in charge of the New York FBI office, revealed Thursday at a school for law-enforcement officials in the court house at Monticello.

Ethics in law-enforcement, civil rights investigations and related subjects were discussed by Special Agent Kelly before law-enforcement officers from Sullivan, Ulster, Orange and Dutchess counties.

ATTENDING from Ulster county were Under Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg, William Churchill, assistant county investigator, Joseph Gentile, county auditor and purchasing agent, and John Larkin, assistant district attorney.

The Sullivan county school started Jan. 3 and will continue on a weekly basis until Feb. 21.

The FBI agent was invited as a speaker by Sullivan County Sheriff Louis Ratner, and Monticello Police Chief Jack Sharoff.

Agent Kelly explained the jurisdiction of the FBI in civil rights investigations and the role of the law-enforcement officer in such cases.

THE FBI, pursuant to instructions issued by the attorney general, said Agent Kelly, conducts a preliminary inquiry immediately upon receipt of information alleging a civil rights violation, and the facts are submitted to the Department of Justice for its determination as to prosecution or further investigation action.

Full investigations in civil rights cases are conducted only at the direction of the Department of Justice, he said.

Sheriff Ratner and Chief Sharoff said the discussion is one of a series of lectures for the police school sponsored by the Sullivan county sheriff's office and the Monticello police department with FBI agents as instructors.

Port Ewen Firemen's Auxiliary Has Annual Election

Port Ewen, Jan. 13—Mrs. Elizabeth Carney was elected president of the Auxiliary of Port Ewen Fire Company at the annual meeting held recently at the firehouse.

Others chosen were Mrs. Dorothy Tinney, vice president; Mrs. Edna Fisk, secretary; Mrs. Edna Hedron, treasurer and Mrs. Helen Beaver, assistant secretary.

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at the firehouse Monday at 8 p. m. All members are urged to attend to welcome the new officers.

Home Demonstration Unit Plans Meeting

Port Ewen, Jan. 13—The monthly meeting of the Home Demonstration unit will be held at the firehouse Tuesday at 8 p. m. The refreshment committee will include Mrs. Edith Wood, Mrs. Beverly Quick and Mrs. Dorothy Bell.

Plans Filed for Plant

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Nuclear Development Corp. of America has filed plans with the state Labor Department for a nuclear reactor testing facility which the firm has started building near Pawling in Dutchess county, N. Y. The plan is reported to be the first privately financed facility to test the performance of nuclear reactors. Plans for the building were filed yesterday by the corporation's president, John R. Menke.

directly and adversely affects our social and economic life. It can't be condemned too strongly." Broady, found guilty by a jury a month ago, showed no emotion as Goldstein handed down the sentence.

Motor Vehicle Rush Reported

A heavy rush on the Motor Vehicle Bureau, 32 Main street, as truck owners tried to beat the January 16 deadline for registration renewals, was reported today by Ralph Post, deputy county clerk.

A waiting line extended outside the building and down Main street as approximately one-half of Ulster county commercial, trailer, suburban and farm vehicle owners had not secured the license tabs.

The 1956 tab must be displayed on the upper right hand corner of the present license plate after midnight Jan. 16.

The line of applicants was swelled by passenger vehicle owners who have only until midnight Tuesday, Jan. 31 to secure tabs.

Settlements Made In Court Cases

Due to illness of counsel in the next case scheduled for trial, there was no court today and Justice Kenneth MacAffer recessed the court until Tuesday due to a prior commitment on Monday.

The term will be resumed Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Settled Thursday was an action brought by Cecilia F. Wilhelm against Herman Abel and another, a negligence action. Koopman and Koopman for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendants.

A JURY was taken in an action brought by Joseph J. Schilbert against Samuel I. Schilman but after selection of the jury a settlement was reached. Michael Nardone for plaintiff and Cashin & Ewig for defendant.

Also settled was a negligence action brought by Dora Dole against Village of Ellenville. Koopman and Koopman for plaintiff and Charles F. Gaffney for defendant; a negligence action brought by Harry J. Krum against Reuben Hendricks. Richter and Werbalowsky for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendant; an action brought by Harry J. Krum against Donna Tyler, negligence. Richter and Werbalowsky for plaintiff and Cashin and Ewig for defendant.

Milk Price $4.21

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—Farmers in the New York milkshed will receive a uniform price of $4.21 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for December milk deliveries to 395 approved plants. The producer butterfat differential for December is 5.4 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard. The uniform price for November was $4.33 and in December, 1954, it was $4.39.

Three Are Inducted

The local selective service office today announced the induction Jan. 10 of three men into the U. S. Army. Of these, George A. Beck, 33AB Miller's Lane, was the sole inductee by Local Board 18, (city). The two others drafted by Local Board 19, (county) were Louis A. Varady, Jr., 88 Washington street, Newburgh, and John D. Prusakowski, RFD No. 1, Box 100, Kerhonkson.

Ready to Print

Detroit, Jan. 13 (AP)—Detroit's three metropolitan newspapers, prepared today to resume publication, possibly Monday, to end one of the longest big city newspaper shutdowns in history. Publishers of the Detroit News, The Times and the Free Press reached tentative agreements yesterday with three striking craft unions to pave the way for a settlement of the 44-day-old strike.

Halting Mergers

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—The state superintendent of banks says 95 state-chartered banks have disappeared through merger since World War 2. George A. Mooney declared yesterday that the state had begun to apply brakes to the merger trend. In his annual report to Gov. Harriman and the Legislature, he said "sound competition must be preserved as the cornerstone on which banking in this state rests."

British Protests Shots

Berlin, Jan. 13 (AP)—British occupation authorities protested to the Russians today because East German border police fired "about half a dozen" shots over the heads of a detachment of British soldiers. A British spokesman said the Communists were trying to prevent the removal of a British jeep which, with three soldiers in it, had skidded partially over the East Berlin border after hitting a tree in the British sector.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—Railroads and chemicals provided the main brace for the stock market today with prices slightly higher in the early afternoon. The better gains ran to between 1 and 2 points. There were frequent losses, but they seldom went to as much as a point. Trading wasn't very active at any time. It maintained a pace somewhat less than the 2,330,000 shares traded yesterday in a higher market.

Program Is Set

lights, brakes, wheel alignment and steering, horn, windshield wiper and mirror be inspected at state-licensed private stations for a fee of not more than $1.25. He said about half the vehicles registered in the state were more than five years old.

THE PROGRAM would replace a law requiring semi-annual safety inspections of all vehicles, which was enacted in 1954 at the urging of Thomas E. Dewey, then governor. It was to have taken effect last year but the effective date was postponed until late in 1956.

Harriman asserted that under the 1954 statute the stations would have charged an average of $2.35 for each vehicle inspection.

The governor declared the limited safety inspection program would "permit us to gain experience in this area at relatively less expense and inconvenience."

"IF IN THE future it appears to be desirable to require a more elaborate inspection, to put it on a semi-annual basis, or to bring in more vehicles, that can in due course be done," he added.

The governor submitted to the Legislature two alternative plans for providing financial protection of insured motorists who have suffered personal injuries or property damage in accidents caused by uninsured drivers.

Under the first plan, which he favors, an uninsured motorist, when he registers his car, would be required to pay a $30 fee over and above his registration fee. After the first, the assessment would be based upon the amount needed.

THE MONEY collected would be placed in a special fund to be used solely to indemnify any person injured by a financially irresponsible motorist.

The proposed law also would provide that any uninsured motorist involved in an accident would not be relieved of personal liability merely by paying the special assessment. Until any judgment against him was paid in full by him, his driver's license and car registration would be revoked and his car impounded.

Harriman said an "alternative plan" would be compulsory insurance. But to be comprehensive, he asserted, it would have to be coupled with an assessment fund to provide for protection against out-of-state drivers, hit-run motorists and drivers of stolen cars.

10 Ulster Firms

Wickler, executive secretary of the Mid-Hudson Industrial Association that approximately 1,600 business firms are taking part in the campaign. Mr. Van Wickler said that the Mid-Hudson Industrial Association has conducted the operations in the Hudson Valley for the past 10 years and that this year's campaign has reached an all time high with 16 members of the association having 31 entries with an additional 14 entries representing non-member firms in Dutchess and Orange counties.

A feature of the campaign this year is the poster material that will be furnished by a member firm, Western Printing and Lithographing Company of Poughkeepsie. These posters will be sent to the participating companies during the 13 weeks of the campaign which started January 1 and will run to March 24.

The aim of the campaign is to obtain a higher percentage of accident-free operations than ever before in the accident prevention program.

An award dinner will be held on May 7 in Poughkeepsie at which time plaques will be presented to the winners.

Conviction Is Upheld

Chicago, Jan. 13 (AP)—Three U. S. Court of Appeals judges upheld yesterday the precedent-setting conviction of Claude H. Lightfoot for belonging to the Communist party while knowing it advocates violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

in 1924 was signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was with the Pirates as pitcher for three seasons.

Mr. Culloton, a star pitcher for the original Kingston Colonials, maintained his interest in local baseball through the years. He managed many area semi-pro teams, served several terms as City Baseball League president. He was also a director of the Little League Association and managed the Dodgers to several American League championships.

BORN IN Kingston 58 years ago, Mr. Culloton was graduated from Fordham University in 1923 with BA degree. He entered Fordham Law School following his baseball career and received his law degree in 1928. He was admitted to the bar the following year.

Culloton served as city judge in Kingston from 1930 to 1937. In June 1939 he was appointed associate counsel, State Department of Taxation and Finance assigned to cigarette tax unit. In that capacity he helped to initiate cigarette tax administration in New York.

IN MAY 1941 he was appointed deputy commissioner of Motor Vehicles and placed in charge of the state's safety responsibilities law. He developed the administrative machinery for placing the law in operation for the first time.

Mr. Culloton resigned the motor vehicle post in May 1943 and in June was commissioned major in U. S. Army serving in North Africa and Italy with the Allied Military Government and attaining the rank of lieutenant colonel.

He returned to Kingston in 1946 and has since been engaged in the practice of law at his 277 Fair street offices. He has been active in the affairs of the Democratic party in Ulster county and served as county chairman of the Democratic committee from 1936 to 1941.

The new appointee married the former Alice Alsheimer of Phoenicia and they have two married daughters.

Colleges Asked
To Make Leisure
Time Productive

St. Louis, Jan. 13 (AP)—Herold C. Hunt, undersecretary of welfare, called on college presidents yesterday to prevent increased leisure time from going by default to unproductive recreation and amusement.

"A great expansion of national wealth appears now to be a certainty," he told delegates to the Association of American Colleges convention. "Will we spend more on trivialities, or will we lay convincing claim to some of this for the improvement of man's minds?"

HUNT PREPARED his remarks as a speech to be delivered at the convention, but a request to appear before a congressional committee kept him in Washington. His speech was duplicated and distributed to the representatives of 714 colleges in the association.

Hunt told the educators: "Liberal learning will have the material as well as spiritual support of our society only so long as it remains a vital and beneficial force in society."

"We cannot simply point with pride to the needs of our society, just as Thomas Jefferson did."

HE RECALLED that Jefferson in 1814 established at the University of Virginia a course in law, political science and other subjects at that time considered beneath the dignity of a college.

THE STATE OF THE UNION

President Eisenhower thinks the State of the Union is good, and so he reported to the Congress. We are not at war, and we are enjoying a period of great prosperity. So far, so good.

He would like to see the Congress move toward better schools, better roads and happier farmers. He wants civil liberties maintained. He wants slums cleared. Defense and foreign aid must be maintained.

He would like to see the budget balanced—which means that the plan for the year be so made that we spend within our means. And he would like to see a start made at reducing the Big Debt owed by the nation. Tax cuts come only after these.

All these are worthy aims. And curiously, they are not aims desired by Republicans only, but they are, in general, the aims and desires of the whole people. They are what plain, every day folks, high and low, rich and poor, young and old, want to see carried out. We all want peace, better health, good schools.

Shall we get them? That remains to be seen. The fact that so many people want them makes it a little harder to get them right now. Because this is a year when each party must oppose the other, in order to elect the candidates of one. So Republicans will oppose some of these sensible objectives and Democrats will oppose others and stalemates are bound to occur.

If, however, enough ordinary folks like us would write and make plain to our representatives in House and Senate what we want done, some of these aims, at least, could be achieved. The will of the people is a powerful engine when used with intelligence and determination.

One thing about a trip to Florida is that it does much for people's color. Those who make the trip come back a fine shade of tan — and those who stay home turn a lovely green.

TRILLIONS

A trillion is a number of which most people have heard when they studied arithmetic, but not since. Astronomers, who have occasion for such large figures when measuring the distances of stars, prefer to use a term like "light-years" instead, meaning the number of years it would take light from a given star to reach the earth.

Trillions may get into the news before long. Our national debt has for years exceeded 250 billions or a quarter of a trillion dollars. It is now over 30 billion dollars above that figure, and is at the highest point ever reached. The debt is perilously close to the legal limit of 281 billions. So much financial maneuvering is required to keep the debt below that figure that the administration plans to ask Congress to raise the limit. As yet it has not determined on the new figure.

So far we are a long distance away from a trillion-dollar debt. Another world war, experts agree, would bring us well into that class, so that our indebtedness would have to be written in 14 figures.

For a time under the Truman administration, with World War II ended, our debt was reduced a few billions. The Korean war made a continuance of reduction impossible, and forced a new upward surge. Since then, despite all efforts, indebtedness has been inching upwards.

Perhaps we should talk more about trillions.

NEW ALTITUDE RECORD

The continued growth of this country's air traffic is a staggering phenomenon. In 1955 it shot up another 20 per cent over 1954, with some 42 million passengers carried on U. S. airlines.

The gain in domestic air travel alone was around 22 per cent, double 1954's advance. All these figures are for regularly scheduled lines. Both totals given out by the CAA show marked expansion as well in air express traffic and private flying, especially business travel.

Barring such an unforeseen development as a severe general business drop, it is al-

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHY 1957?

It seems generally agreed among those who study such questions that in 1957, Red China will be elected into the United Nations and that the United States will not oppose such recognition. Historically that means that every American boy who gave his life in Korea died in vain and that it has become a precedent that a country can shoot its way into the United Nations.

The acceptance of the year 1957 for this fabled deed is too general and therefore the assumption is tenable that some conversations occurred either at Geneva or between Dulles and Eden or that Stassen said something about it on his travels, so that the thing is repeated without author but with authority. The admission of four Soviet-enslaved nations into the United Nations cannot but re-open the question of Red China. Is, for instance, Red China more or less objectionable than Albania?

There are some signs. The Chinese Reds have been hanging away at Matsu and Quemoy and nothing is said or done about it. As a matter of fact, causeways are being built to Amoy and Tamsui and there is an airfield build-up on the mainland. The Chinese Nationalists are permitted to do nothing about it. American policy has forbidden the Chinese Nationalists to do anything to safeguard their defenses. They are held prisoners by an absurd policy that as Nationalist China is to be abandoned sooner or later, nothing should be done about it. This is a suicidal policy. General Liu Yu-chang said of this:

"If our artillery was not restricted they would not be building the causeway."

It would be logical for the Nationalists to blow up the causeways that the Reds are building, and the sooner they are blown up, the less dangerous these military works would be to the future.

These are details. The general principle is more important. It is that while the United States gives the appearance of supporting the Nationalists, it has been State Department policy, since the days of George Marshall, to give the Chinese Communists every opportunity to strengthen themselves. In fact, had it not been for Marshall's errors of judgment in trying to bring about a united front between the Nationalists and the Communists, the Communists would never have conquered China. There was one of those long truces, like at Panmunjom, which the Communists always win by wearing out their opponents.

The question of the acceptance of Red China by the United Nations must be regarded as a long truce. We have been discussing the matter since 1949. Every year, the question comes up and wastes a lot of time. The Chinese Reds have been most skillful in wearing down the British, particularly Anthony Eden, who has never displayed any knowledge of the Far East which must psychologically be distasteful to him. Whenever the question arises, he is ready to give up the ghost. At any rate, that is the way he seems to act, and whatever he does makes a profound impression on our State Department for no reason whatsoever.

We were all of the opinion during the Acheson regime of the State Department that his attitude toward Red China was soft. In the 1952 Campaign, the Republicans made a great issue of China and made violent accusations against the Democrats and particularly against Dean Acheson. Such accusations were made often in the columns during the years that George Marshall and Dean Acheson presided over our foreign policy. But this time, how he said for them in retrospect: they sought some way out of the international dilemma in which the existence of Red China placed them, but they did not cave in before Communist pressure.

Thus far, John Foster Dulles has not caved in either but the slip about 1957 gives the impression that the way is being prepared for it.

It would be a comedy if it turned out in the 1956 Campaign that the Democrats accused the Republicans of doing what in 1952 the Republicans accused the Democrats of doing, namely, of plotting to bring the Red Chinese into the United Nations. And it will do the Republicans as much damage in 1956 as it did the Democrats in 1952. The American people want no truck with the murderers of their sons and the Red Chinese cannot be regarded as anything but murderers. (Copyright, 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
NEW DENTURES

One of the crises in life that eventually faces practically every one of us is the need for artificial dentures, commonly known as "false" or "store" teeth. Some persons can face this fact with no particular feeling of depression but there are many others who go to the dentist apprehensive, self-conscious, embarrassed or highly sensitive, with the feeling that an important time in their lives has come to an end and that they can no longer consider themselves as young or even middle-aged. For such as these, the aged and anxieties which are present require and deserve sympathetic understanding attention as they may feel that they are losing some part of themselves which can never be replaced—as indeed they are.

It is really not enough to consider that the success of a denture depends upon its usefulness, appearance, condition of the mouth's dental ridge or even the ease with which a patient can accustom himself to the artificial teeth. The comfort and effectiveness of new dentures are directly related to the physical well-being as well as the physical well-being of the individual.

It is important that patients be educated to the need for adjustment of the dentures during the period of transition while the patient becomes emotionally adjusted to the new teeth. Advice for new denture wearers is to wear them continuously, day and night, including times of sleep, at least until the patient is well used to them. As has been said, "No one ever learned to use a set of dentures by leaving them in the bureau drawer."

It also has been pointed out that the new denture wearer may find difficulty at first in pronouncing the sounds of "s," "x," "ch" and "sh" while the muscles are trained to perform new functions. Help may be found in this difficulty in practicing proper speech for these sounds by reading aloud and alone. Patience, practice and time are the principal requirements for those wearing artificial dentures for the first time.

How about the older person who has, perhaps, had his dentures for many years? Perhaps they have become painful, do not seem to fit properly, have a tendency to drop down from the gums? Most of these troubles can be corrected without too much difficulty by the dentist. However, here again, the mental attitude of the patient must be considered carefully. If the fault with the dentures is not too severe and the patient makes no complaint, it is sometimes considered wise not to make any change. The elderly person has become used to the fit and feel of his own particular dentures and may find it exceedingly difficult to adjust to new ones. In fact, it has been found quite often that the older person for whom new dentures have been made will say nothing about them but just quietly stop wearing them entirely. As above, much depends on the co-operation of the patient and if he is willing to give it, he can be greatly helped, but when a person becomes "set in his way," such co-operation is not always found.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — One business barometer getting a lot of attention these days is the growth of consumer credit.

Federal Reserve Board has just reported that consumer installment debt now totals 27.3 billion dollars. This is an increase of 5 billion dollars over a year ago.

Short-term consumer debts of nearly 7.7 billion dollars additionally bring the total to around 35 billions.

That's obviously a lot of money, but rather meaningless to the average family head, concerned with balancing his own budget for the coming year. Reducing the figures to average family size makes them easier to understand.

There are now approximately 49.5 million families in the U. S., plus another 3 million unattached adults. This makes a total of 52.5 million "spending units."

Past surveys by Federal Reserve show that about half of these spending units have no debts. No long-term mortgage on the house. No intermediate installment debt. No short-term charge accounts or service bills to pay.

SO TO MAKE an estimate on average indebtedness it's necessary to divide total consumer credit of 35 billion dollars in round numbers, by the 26 million plus spending units who do owe money.

The answer comes to approximately $1330 per unit.

This is made up of, on the average, owed $542 on an automobile, $288 owed on furniture or household appliances, $62 owed on repair or modernization loans, $204 owed on personal loans. This is all installment debt.

On noninstallment debts, the average breakdown is $103 on single payment loans due, $123 owed on charge accounts and $68 on service credit for doctor bills and the like.

Automobile loans are responsible for most of last year's increase. Seventy-two per cent of the new cars were sold on credit in the third quarter of 1955. The average note on purchase was for $2200. Both figures are new highs.

THIS AVERAGE indebtedness of $1330 for the spending units that are in debt must of course be related to average family income.

With total disposable income after taxes calculated at 275 billion dollars at the end of the year, the average income for 52.5 billion spending units would be about $5240.

An installment and short-term debt of $1300 for such a family would be a little over 25 per cent of income. That is considered a high ratio for sound family financing.

The above figures of course do not include home owners' mortgage indebtedness. It has been rising at the rate of a billion dollars a month. It's another cause of worry for economists who fear that too much easy credit may lead to more inflation.

Best estimates of Housing and Home Finance Agency experts put the total owner-occupied housing mortgage debt at about $80 billion as of Jan. 1.

OF THE 42 MILLION U. S. housing units, approximately one third are rented. Another third are owner-occupied and fully paid for. The final third, or 14 million units, are mortgaged. This would make the average unpaid balance due on mortgages for families buying their own homes on time $5,700. In relation to average family disposable income of over $5200 a year, the average mortgage is 10 per cent greater.

Families buying their own homes on time aren't necessarily the same families with the larger installment and short-term debts. The two figures can't be added to get a representative total average family indebtedness.

Excepting the automobile indebtedness, the figures largely cover families living in cities and small towns. Farm loans are largely carried as business loans and are not included in installment credit. Department of Agriculture economists say there are no good data on farm family average indebtedness.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Most of us have forgotten and many of us never knew that one of the conditions which lifted Adolf Hitler to power was the horrible violence of the Communist uprising which followed the First World War. Communism seeped, then flowed into Germany from Russia where the German imperial government had fomented revolution for the immediate military purpose of eliminating a military front and thereby releasing large armies from inactive, vigilant duty for offensive action against the West, including the United States. By a strange madness the people of the United States were whipped into rapture. They thought it was a victory of an illusion called democracy, even though it should have been plain to the most ignorant American that the consequent reinforcement of the enemy's western front would delay and might prevent our victory.

This fake triumph of democracy was paid for in American lives on the western front. Even American soldiers in our preliminary camps rejoiced over the downfall of the czar. At the big meeting in Carnegie Hall in New York, dissenters against the propaganda for war were howled down as "Fascists" and "Socialists." Some were thrown out by the police.

By a narrow squeak, the Kaiser's armies were beaten and he, too, was deposed. There followed a wild confusion of upstart adventures by all manner of "democratic," "liberal" and "radical" fakers of the same stripe as thousands of New Dealers who have infested our country under Roosevelt, Truman and, now, Eisenhower. They were in a Negro division in battle. Before he had gone, alone, to no personal belly for a fight, like our own Ivy League ideologues of the professorial. But there were both Communists and patriots who were eager to meet on the ramparts. The influx of Communists among the refugees from Poland and the Baltic complicated the situation. Some refugees were as badly scared of the Bolsheviks in Russia as the most devoted German patriot. They included small capitalists with compact treasures in gold and cash. However, they were strangers and, as time went on and the disorders continued, many native Germans began to regard them all as profiteers and interlopers preying on their confusion and poverty.

After Hitler had suppressed all the splinter groups and consolidated the power under his own Nazi party, our people willfully ignored the fact that the Bolshevik movement had aroused desperation in the hearts of good Germans. Fame, imposed by the British with our collusion; disgusting horrors inflicted on refined religious German girls by primitive French Colonial troops; and continuous dreary failures of unrecognized "leaders" to establish a government with legitimate power, had worn down the German spirit. Down to the very time when Hitler took over, a few patriotic loyal Americans who saw communism rising here, tried to catch our ear with the facts of those Communist forays in Germany.

Ham Fish, a congressman with a brave war record, was ridiculed for his earnest, almost plaintive efforts to arouse us. He is a giant who had been one of the immortals of Harvard football. In the war, he had been company commander in a Negro division in battle. Before he had gone, alone, to the officers' mess of a company of white southern infantry and presenting his compliments, invited any officer present to step outside and fight to decide whether their white soldiers should desert from annoying his colored men. The southerners apparently decided that here was a decent fellow pleading with them to do the right thing for the overall good of the common cause. Thereafter relations were better.

Ham Fish is not shrewd, so when he ran the first of the congressional investigations of communism in the United States, he got a bad press. Probably there were no conscious pro-Communists among the reporters in Washington then, but few could understand the danger which should have been ap-

Today in National Affairs

Eight Months of Crisis Is Seen if Ike Does Not Run

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 13.—What do members of the cabinet think about the chances of an announcement being made by President Eisenhower that he will accept nomination for a second term?

Most of them who talk about it all do so privately to their friends and associates, and the preponderant opinion is that the President will take what is often called in military terms a "calculated risk" and will be willing to serve if the people wish him to do so.

Since the transcript of the President's conference with the press last Sunday at Key West was published, it develops that there are really two main groups in Washington, irrespective of party, who comment on it.

THE FIRST ASSUMES that a personal decision is to be made, and many individuals, whether Republican or Democratic, say the same thing—that in their own cases and faced with the same circumstances, they wouldn't risk a second term or any heavy duties in business or the professions.

The second assumes that, while there is a personal risk, a soldier is inclined to look at the national interest above self-interest and that, when all the facts and arguments are marshaled, Mr. Eisenhower, impelled by a sense of duty, will decide to serve on if re-elected. But it is surprising that those who commented overlook one aspect of what could be involved in the President's reference to the "unexpected." He said in his press conference:

"It is a very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time that it is unexpected — we accustom ourselves, and so do foreign governments, to changing our government every four years, but always something happens that is unexpected when a government is changed at other times. It is a rather startling thing."

BUT, IT MAY be asked, just what is going to happen in this country and in the world if the President announces that he isn't going to run? Whenever he says he doesn't intend to run again, the news will come as a shock to the people not only of this country but of the other countries of the free world.

The "unexpected" will then develop with intensity. American leadership will suddenly become uncertain and perhaps frustrated. If the President announces a negative decision at the end of February, for example, a period of uncertainty lasting through several months will inevitably follow.

The other governments of the free world, knowing that Mr. Eisenhower will not be at the helm after next January, will not feel inclined to initiate new policies with Mr. Dulles, for he, too, would not assuredly be Secretary of State after the present administration came to an end. As for the Communist governments, they might feel this period of uncertainty gave them a chance to do the "unexpected," too, and a flare-up in Formosan waters might be the result, with grave risks of war.

IT HAS NOT been the custom of the American people to "change horses in midstream." There was, for example, considerable opposition to the third-term idea prior to May 10, 1940, when Hitler made an "unexpected" war by invading Holland and Belgium and driving toward France. The moment the international situation changed, sentiment inside America changed, and Mr. Roosevelt made up his mind to ignore the third-term tradition.

The same situation prevailed in November, 1944, when the American people, at the height of World War 2, chose not to upset the continuity of administration and not to allow a critical period of uncertainty in leadership to develop.

All the precedents argue in favor of continuity of party or administration in the White House when an international crisis occurs. It could have an important bearing on Mr. Eisenhower's decision, too.

What Mr. Eisenhower doubtless had in mind when he talked to the reporters about the "unexpected" was the possibility that a President with a heart ailment might die unexpectedly and at a critical time. But, while indeed such a turn of fate would be a shock to the country and the world, the period of uncertainty is short-lived. The Vice-President takes the oath of office immediately. This was true when Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley were shot and, in recent times, when Presidents Harding and Franklin Roosevelt died in office. When the next in line takes office, the incumbent Administration usually continues on with the same cabinet and the same policies.

COMPARING the consequences of sudden change due to death of a President in office and the confusion and uncertainty which would ensue in the United States if Mr. Eisenhower should in February or March announce that he will not run, there seems little doubt that the later type of change would produce far more damage to world affairs in general and to the economic situation in the United States. National policies toward business, which are of prime importance, would be left uncertain till a new President took office ten or eleven months later. This crisis would in any event, last at least eight months—from March to November—even if the Republican candidate were successful in the election itself. (Reproduction Rights Reserved) parent from the way of things in Germany. So Ham was ridiculed. The fact that his disclosures and warnings have since been verified affords little satisfaction to him and no profit to us.

In September, 1933, Hitler said at the beginning of this year we were within a hair's breadth of Bolshevik chaos."

As in our own country since then, Communists had created an artistic underworld of sneering artists, novelists, actors and other entertainers. Communists sifted into the bureau of all the attempts at orderly government. They flattered and wheedled the police who were the first defense against riots. They exhorted the soldiers of irrefutable military forces not to fire on their "fellow-workers." Weak commanders, afraid of being tried by courts of a successful revolution, sent their troops to the dead-line against mobs with empty rifles. The Communists knew this. By pressing closer and closer, they were able to seize the rifles and chase disarmed old soldiers back to their barracks. The result was absolute collapse of the force which must stand behind any government.

Some Americans have laughed or yawned at the brutal picket-line outbreaks at Kohler, Perfect Circle and Westinghouse. But those things actually are violent, treasonous insurrections against the government of three states, Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio. Legally they may be punishable by death, as treason usually is. Yet even members of the clergy and some giants of the American press have condoned their conduct.

This very day many professional unionists, mainly of the CIO, who have been guilty of flagrant capital crimes against individual states and the United States, in collusion with Communists, have the confidence of the government. And Senators McCarthy, Jenner, Goldwater, Welker and all anti-Communists, are laughed out of print and may be laughed out of office for opposing the betrayal. $18,000 Verdicts Are Returned in Accident Action

Verdicts totaling $18,000 were returned Wednesday afternoon in Supreme Court in an action brought by Clifford Knudsen, his wife, Joan Knudsen, and her mother, Mary Koiezets of Alligerville, against William R. Bunn of Alligerville and Marjorie McIntosh of Laplume, Pa., for injuries sustained in a three car accident on October 16, 1954 at the junction of Route 213 and Lucas avenue.

Mrs. Koiezets was awarded $14,000 for injuries to her neck, Knudsen and his wife were awarded $2,000 each. Philip Korn appeared for plaintiffs and Bunn was represented by Hugh R. Elwyn and Marjorie McIntosh by Arthur Ames.

The injuries were sustained when the three cars were in an accident at the junction of the High Falls road and Lucas avenue extension. The McIntosh car and the Bunn car allegedly collided and the McIntosh car then bumped the Knudsen car which was stopped on 213 waiting to make a turn into Lucas avenue. McIntosh was coming down Route 213 and the Bunn car was coming out of Lucas avenue.

Wallkill Parents Hear Teenage Problem Talk

Wallkill, Jan. 13—The Wallkill Parents Club met in the high school auditorium recently with Mrs. Virginia Igou, Central School guidance counselor and Mrs. Laurence Dolan, a parent, who prepared the program, "Helping Children to Help Themselves." The theme covered tendencies of the teenagers to forget God, their responsibilities to their parents and themselves, and their cultural environment.

Mrs. Jane Jockers, president of the club, presided at the business meeting and introduced the program chairman, Mrs. Dolan.

In the open discussion, the basic principle was concluded to be the parent's responsibility to see that their children grow up to become orderly members of society.

An explanation of why there must be reasonable rules enforced by parents and observed by younger teenagers, concerning TV programs was pointed out by Mrs. Igou.

Few of the rules that would help teenagers to get the most fun and least danger out of their parties was another subject for discussion.

A movie "Meeting the Needs of Adolescents" concluded the program.

New Steno—I've added up this column of figures 10 times now, sir.

Boss—Good for you!

Steno—And here are the 10 answers.

Two elderly American ladies were journeying across Canada for the first time. In the West, the train stopped in a large station, and the ladies got out for a walk. Meeting a man on the platform, one asked, "What place is this?"

The man said, "Saskatoon, Saskatchewan."

One of the ladies, thrilled, turned to her companion and whispered, "They don't speak English here."

A soldier in the English army wrote home: "They put me in barracks; they took away my clothes and put me in khaki; they took away my name and made me 'No. 575'; they took me

Ives Opposed

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives of New York says he is "unalterably opposed" to legislation in its present form that would release producers of natural gas from government price regulation. The Norwich Republican said the legislation, supported by Democrats, "could add millions of dollars to the cost of living for many New York state residents" who use natural gas. Ives said the state Public Service Commission strongly opposed the measure. He quoted the commission as saying that the price paid to producers by transmission companies might, without federal regulation double in the foreseeable future.

Veterans Class
Begun at Paltz
Central School

A class for veterans in diversified apprentice training has been added to the adult education program at New Paltz Central School.

The class, taught by Raymond Buckley, met Tuesday, Jan. 10 and was in response to a request by the State Department of Education to establish such a class as a service to veterans in the area, helping them to meet the educational requirements which are part of the veterans apprenticeship program.

Frederick C. Dippel, director of adult education at the high school has announced that second semester classes will begin on Jan. 23. New classes to start at that time will be driver education, photography and advanced typing, all of which will meet on Monday evenings. More detailed information about these new programs will be given next week. Other classes which are now in progress but which are still open to new members are as follows:

Monday evenings: Americanization, piano, sewing, readings and discussion in literature (alternate Mondays), freedom agenda project (alternate Mondays), and early American decoration.

Tuesday evenings: Hobby shop and ceramics.
Wednesday evenings: Electronics workshop, sewing, piano, world affairs and arts and crafts.

Anyone interested in any of these classes are urged to report to the class the night of the meeting. It is not necessary to register in advance but in the case of driver education it is advisable since only a limited number of adults can be handled and the first names reported.

Ship Toll Now 71

Seoul, Jan. 13 (AP)—The death toll in a fire aboard a Korean passenger ship rose to 71 today in the latest national police count. The victims included 42 men, 22 women and 7 children. Fire swept through the 130-ton coastal passenger ship Taishinhoh Thursday after cabin boy Park Chong Chul, 20, dropped a kerosene lamp on straw mats. Park and the shipmaster, Capt. Kim Han Suk, were held on suspicion of negligence.

Robbers Will Die

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 13 (AP)—Three robbers were sentenced to death yesterday, the first time a court has pronounced the maximum sentence under a new criminal code. The three—Hsieh Mu-shi, Lan Mou-sheng and Au Chin-chi—were convicted of robbing a dealer of 150 ounces of gold.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 13 (AP)—Spot, a 19-inch-long English setter, is in good condition after an operation for removal of a nine-inch xylophone hammer from his stomach.
Dr. W. F. Stack, veterinarian, performed the 45-minute operation yesterday on the three-month-old pup owned by M. I. Proulx of Syracuse, who could not explain how Spot swallowed the hammer.

AUBURN, Jan. 13 (AP)—The New Process Gear Corp. plans a two-million-dollar expansion program that will enlarge its force from 170 to 350 workers here by the end of the year.

President Joseph F. Kerigan said in a speech before civic leaders last night that the payroll could increase eventually to 2,000 employees.
Kerigan said all casting and milling would be done in Auburn and Syracuse plants would take over assembly work.

CORNWALL, Ont., Jan. 13 (AP)—Construction crews set to work on the new town of Long Sault, designed to replace two hamlets scheduled for flooding by the St. Lawrence river power project.
Long Sault will rise about a mile west of the hamlets of Millie Roches and Moulinette, which are on Highway 2 bordering the Cornwall canal. They are about five miles west of Cornwall.

Residents are expected to be established by the end of the year in Long Sault, which will accommodate about 1,500.

Areas stripped of topsoil by flood are known as scablands.

Briefly Told

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Communications Commission has stayed temporarily its recent grant of a new 1050 kilocycle grant at Chateaugay, N. Y., to the Franklin County Broadcasting Co.

The FCC said yesterday that Station WICY, Malone, N. Y., had filed a protest. It will be heard on March 12.

UTICA, Jan. 13 (AP)—Leon Eaton of Ogdensburg pleaded guilty in Federal Court yesterday to a Dec. 20 indictment charging that he had operated a retail liquor business without paying the required tax.

Judge Stephen W. Brennan levied a fine of $200 and gave Eaton until Feb. 1 to pay it.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Harlan Kenneth Martin, 25 of Glens Falls, was killed yesterday when a truck he was driving left Route 86A about nine miles south of this Adirondack village, slid about 45 yards on its side and overturned. The highway was slushy.

ALBANY, Jan. 13 (AP)—Republican party enrollment in Albany has fallen more than 3,000 in the last year to 4,375. It is the lowest total in the 44 years for which records are available.

In the same year, Democratic enrollment climbed from 50,029 to 51,466.

In the county-wide enrollments for 1956 party primary purposes, the GOP fell from 33,120 to 27,000. The Democrats grew from 70,303 to 71,936.

The previous low for the GOP was 4,625 in 1941.

The Albany county Board of Elections announced the totals yesterday.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Supervisor to Attend
Town's Group Meeting

Woodstock, Jan. 13 — It was announced at the Woodstock Town Board meeting Wednesday night that the annual meeting of the Association of Towns will be held at Hotel Statler, Buffalo from February 9 through 9.

Joseph Fitzsimmons, town supervisor will be the delegate to that meeting and Joseph Forno, Justice of the Peace will be the alternate.

Then bonds for the town officials for the coming year were acted upon as follows by the town board: Joseph Fitzsimmons, supervisor; John Pike, councilman; George J. Braendly, Justice of the Peace; Albert Cashdollar, superintendent of highways; Mrs. Clayton Harder, town clerk; Roger Jones, deputy town clerk; and Charles B. Farley, constable.

The Woodstock Branch of the Bank of Orange County was designated as the depository for town funds for the coming year. The following persons were appointed for various offices in the town: Supervisor Fitzsimmons, town welfare officer; Mrs. Harder, registrar of vital statistics; Birge Simmons, chairman of the board of assessors; George Haythorne, enforcement officer for the multiple dwelling law; and Mr. Farley and Clarence Snyder designated as constables.

New York Town Hall
Offers Schimmerling

Woodstock, Jan. 13 — The Town Hall in New York resounded with the harmonies and Balkan rhythms of Hanus A. Schimmerling's Lyrica Illyrica Suite, on Sunday, Jan. 8. The Knickerbocker Chamber players gave a splendid rendition of the difficult work, the composer, a resident of Woodstock, reported.

The concert was attended by many summer residents of Woodstock, as well as frequent guests and performing artists known to this community. Among them were Carl Bamberger, conductor; Samuel Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. Guido Brand, Miss Ruth Cohn, Milton Feist, music publisher; Dr. Mieczyslaw Kolinski, professor and Mrs. Robert Korst, Mrs. William Kroll, Miss Naomi Liebman, Mr. and Mrs. Salvador Ley, Dr. and Mrs. Philip Loewendorf, Miss Paula Neulander, Dr. and Mrs. Herman Newman, musical director, WNYC, Mrs. L. Peters, Miss Helen Shotwell and many others.

Publisher Hits
U.S. Spokesmen in Latin America

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—James G. Stahlman, president of the Inter-American Press Assn., says the State Department is operating in a "disgraceful" manner and U. S. ambassador to Argentina Albert Nufer should be recalled.

Stahlman told a news conference yesterday that the State Department's entire division of Latin American affairs should be reshuffled.

Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, also criticized the "attitude" of Henry Holland, assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs.

Nufer and Holland, he said, "did more against the prestige of the United States than anyone else."

Their "laudatory remarks" of the Juan Peron government "left our association (in Latin America) wondering what kind of people we were," Stahlman added. "It is time we cleaned up the Latin American situation in our State Department."

He declared that "I can't see any doubt about Albert Nufer. He has no business staying in Argentina."

"The irony of the mess occurred," he said, "when Henry Holland went back to Argentina" when Alberto Gaitaneri Paz, publisher of the Buenos Aires newspaper, La Prensa, returned home from exile.

Gainza Paz fled his homeland after his paper was seized by the government, and returned after Peron was removed from power. Holland, following the downfall of the Peron regime, went to Argentina for conference with the new government.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Jan. 13 — Sam Eskin, folk singer, is leaving Monday for Alvarado, state of Vera Cruz, Mexico, where he will spend the remainder of the winter. He will record folk songs while there. Mr. Eskin recently returned from Washington D. C., where he was engaged in research work. He has had several new albums of his folk songs recently released, particularly those of Arab and Cuban music. To be released in the near future is an album on Mexican music.

Mr. and Mrs. William Moncure are the parents of a daughter, Maury, born January 5, at New York Hospital.

Potsdam Farmers
Short of Water

Potsdam, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—An acute water shortage in this northern New York area is bedeviling dairy farmers even as the sleet and snow fly.

Volunteer fire departments in Seavert, Sanfordville, Knapps Station and West Stockholm are delivering water in tank trucks to farms where wells and cisterns have run dry. Many farmers are having new wells dug. The drillers have long lists of waiting customers.

Even farmers with brooks on their land are affected. They explain that many cows are heavy with calf and it is too hazardous to attempt to guide them through the snow to water.

Some farmers drive to creameries with empty milk cans and return with a cargo of water. In some areas, residents have been forced to walk considerable distances to springs to fetch water for household purposes.

Donald Huddleston, Farm Bureau agent at Canton, says the water shortage can be blamed in part on drought conditions last summer and fall. Although there was considerable rain late in the fall, the ground was so dry the rain did not fill wells.

Asphalt Lake
Pitch Lake, in Trinidad, is the world's largest producer of asphalt. An average of 200,000 tons of asphalt is excavated yearly, but the material soon replaces itself from the lake's depths.

Some Republican Leaders Oppose
Naming of Bowie

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Some Republican Senate leaders were reported to be angry at President Eisenhower's selection of Robert R. Bowie as assistant secretary of state.

Bowie, who has been a member of the State Department's policy planning board since May 1953, was formally nominated yesterday. Secretary of State Dulles and Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall were said by informed sources to have tried in advance to soften opposition to him.

SOME INFLUENTIAL Republicans said they have been told that Bowie has said privately he favors admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

That is a Red flag for such senators as GOP leader Knowland of California and GOP policy chairman Bridges of New Hampshire, who are outspoken opponents of recognition.

The Bowie appointment was said to have been the first since that of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen, as ambassador to Russia, which has been formally submitted when there was advance knowledge of opposition from Senate GOP leaders.

After Bohlen was confirmed, leaders reached an agreement with White House aides that they would be notified in advance of contemplated appointments.

IN THE CASE of Bowie, Dulles is reported to have told the GOP chiefs that he already had promised Bowie the job and did not feel he could renege. Dulles also is reported to have said Bowie wouldn't influence his policy decisions.

Hall apparently came into the conversations in an attempted peace move after the leaders made it plain to White House assistants they would vote against the nomination. He may have been partially successful. At least some Republican senators are understood to have said they expect to vote against Bowie but may not make Senate speeches on the nomination.

Plattekill

Plattekill, Jan. 13 — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harris were among visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Charles White at Walkkill recently.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Sadie Brach Tompkins, widow of Charles G. Tompkins, at the Catskill Hospital. She was a former resident of Plattekill, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Brach of the Mill road section. The Tompkins conducted a general store in this community, now owned and operated by George Sisti, Sr. Their only daughter, Jennie, now Mrs. Ridley Locke, lives in East Rockaway, L. I.

Local members of the Ulster County Cooperative Extension Service, attended a county-wide meeting Tuesday, Jan. 10, at the First Baptist Church in Kingston. Miss Adeline Snellman, specialist in Textiles and Clothing, from the State College of Economics at Ithaca, was guest speaker with a topic of Good Grooming and Care of the Skin.

Somar and Mrs. Donald Decker, and son, have returned to the U. S. base in Virginia after visiting Mrs. Decker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kopaskie, on the Forest road section.

Darball team members of the Plattekill Grange sponsored a card and game party Saturday night at the Grange Hall. Pinochle, canasta and dominoes were played and refreshments served during a social time.

Junior Marrieds Hear Dr. Shay

At the Jan. 5 meeting of the Junior Married Women's Club of the YWCA, Dr. Edward F. Shay, chairman of the Mental Health Committee, spoke of many interesting examples of mentally ill patients and how new modern drugs can help them.

During his talk, Dr. Shay pointed out that the New York state mental institutions rate very high although Connecticut rates even higher. He also said that a great deal of help is still needed to help promote the five year educational program for mental health.

During the meeting, a motion was made and carried to write to the Board of Supervisors endorsing the appointment of a Board of Mental Health.

Dr. Shay also spoke briefly on marital compatibility and a discussion period followed.

Hostesses for the evening included the Mmes. John Schmidt, Alex Schoen, Lewis Short, Robert Short, Robert Sickler, Howard Stauble and James Swartzmiller.

Dr. Tidmarsh to Play At Organ Dedication

DR. ELMER TIDMARSH

The newly rebuilt organ of the Old Dutch Church will be dedicated at an organ recital Sunday, Jan. 15, at 4 p. m. The recital will be played by Dr. Elmer A. Tidmarsh, who is head of the Music Department of Union College in Schenectady.

Dr. Tidmarsh is well known in Kingston as a former director of the Mendelssohn Club for 16 years. A native of Sandy Hill, he is a graduate of the Guilford Organ School course under Dr. William C. Carl and has received the degree of Associate of the American Guild of Organists.

During the summer months he is organist and choir master at the American Cathedral in Paris. In addition to his work at Union College, Dr. Tidmarsh conducts choral groups in Albany, Schenectady, Poughkeepsie and Troy. Union College conferred the Doctor of Music degree on him in 1933; in 1936 he received the award of Officer of the Palms of the French Academy.

The first half of the program will consist of Trumpet Tune, Henry Purcell; Sister Monica, Francois Couperin; The Cuckoo, Louis d'Aquin; Air from Suite in D, Bach; and Toccata & Fugue in D Minor, Bach.

The second half will include Sunshine Toccata, Fermin Swinburn; Shepherd Girl's Sunday, Ole Bull; Fireflies, Louis Vierne; Softly Now the Light of Day, Gottschalk; Toccata from Fifth Symphony, Charles Marie Widor.

The public is cordially invited to attend the recital and the coffee hour which will follow in Bethany Hall.

Brunet-Bryant Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brinks Jr., of Mt. Tremper, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mrs. Joan Brinks Brunet, to Nestor R. Bryant of Hicksville, L. I., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bryant of New Salem.

Mrs. Brunet, a former resident of Rockville Centre, L. I., is now employed in the Loan Department of the Rondout National Bank.

Her fiancé is employed in the drafting department of the Long Island Lighting Company at Hicksville. He plans to continue his studies at Hofstra College this semester, where he was studying prior to serving four years with the U. S. Air Force.

DAR Chapter Sets Date for Meeting

An original skit, "A Daughter of a Daughter," written by Mrs. Raymond Gross, regent of the Wiltwyck Chapter, will be presented Thursday, Jan. 19, at the annual meeting of the Incorporated Society of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Trustees will be elected and present trustees will serve as hostesses.

The Chapter House, located on Crown and Green streets, in which the DAR meets, is one of the oldest stone houses in Kingston, having been built before 1695. Records show the first owner to be Anthony Crispell.

During the revolution, when Hendrickus Sleight, the village president lived in it, the house was damaged during the burning of Kingston by the British. It was rebuilt and in 1794 became the property of John Tappan, who printed his paper, "The Ulster Plebian," on the second floor of the building.

For about 100 years, townspeople called it the "Tappan House." In 1907, the Wiltwyck Chapter bought the property in order that it could be used as a chapter house and a museum.

The house is open to the public and persons from all over the world visit it.

Wiltwyck Chapter is proud to own and support this old stone house and derives funds for its maintenance from bazaars, card parties, dues and silver teas given under the sponsorship of the Chapter.

Honest But Tricky FiguresU. S. Budget Can Fool Most on Complications

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—The federal budget is such a complicated affair by now that perhaps President Eisenhower should have chosen Friday the thirteenth to unveil it instead of waiting till Monday.

Carefully and conscientiously as it may have been drawn up, the budget has become so unwieldy over the years that it can fool all but the most expert. The most honest of budgets is so tricky by now that it's possible to say:

1. After 20 years of social security and similar programs, the Treasury shows a cash balance now only when the regular budget calls for a deficit and the Treasury will have a cash surplus.

2. The actual sums the treasury will spend in the next fiscal year could be considerably more than what Congress is being asked by the President to authorize at this session—and the sums could be less, and all legal.

3. The sums the Congress finally will appropriate also may be more or may be less than the treasury will actually spend in the next fiscal year. Authorization isn't the same as appropriation, and appropriation isn't the same as spending—although sooner or later the government always gets around to spending plenty.

THE REASONS for these seeming contradictions are these:

The cash budget covers all the income the treasury collects from the public and all the payments it actually makes to the public. This income includes money which isn't counted in the regular budget the President has prepared for the Congress. This money chiefly consists of receipts the treasury collects for social security and other trust funds. It isn't counted as government income, but the treasury can and does use it in its daily dealings just like any other cash receipt.

For years now most of these trust funds have been collecting more from the public than the pay out in benefits. For their excess receipts the trust funds get special government securities. The interest on these securities bring in a billion dollars or more a year to the funds—although the actual cash stays in the treasury and is credited to the funds.

THE INTEREST payment, however, like all the other billions the treasury pays out on the federal debt is counted as an expense item in the regular budget.

In short, collections on behalf of the trust funds aren't counted as income, although treated as cash by the treasury, while interest payments to the funds are counted as expenditures, even if the funds may not see the cash. In this way, the treasury's cash intake and outgo can be in balance even if the ordinary budget isn't.

The difference between actually spending and the authorization and appropriation of funds by Congress can be just as confusing. The various departments of government often have large carry-overs of sums appropriated in former years for their use.

THAT IS HOW spending for foreign aid could be maintained at the old rate this year although Congress cut down on the appropriation for it at the last session.

The departments often ask for authority to contract to spend money even when they don't want the money appropriated until next year or later. That is because of the time lag between ordering and paying for big items like ships, aircraft, reclamation projects, highways, or long-term programs of foreign aid.

It's a wise congressman who can pick his way through the maze of carryovers, authorizations, appropriations, and cash income and outgo, and have a crystal clear idea of how much government will actually cost in the next fiscal year—and where the cash is coming from.

IBM to Build on Coast

New York, Jan. 13—International Business Machines Corporation today announced plans to construct manufacturing, engineering, and educational facilities on a portion of its recently acquired 190-acre site in San Jose, Calif. Approximately 400,000 square feet will be built on the site in a "campus-style" arrangement where separate buildings will house manufacturing facilities, a product design laboratory, an advanced development laboratory, and educational facilities. Eventually, about 1,500 employees will occupy the buildings. One of the principal products to be manufactured at the new plant will be electronic data processing machines incorporating IBM's new "random access" memory device.

JACOBY ON BRIDGERepeat Finesse Would Be Costly

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When you take a finesse successfully, your natural tendency is to repeat it. This is usually a good idea, but today's hand shows an exception to the rule.

Declarer won the first trick with dummy's king of spades and drew two rounds of trumps. He then led a low club from his hand and finessed dummy's nine. The original idea was to avoid losing a trick to the jack of clubs. South rejoiced for a moment when East had to win this trick with the king of clubs. The club finesse obviously had succeeded.

South's rejoicing was short lived. East returned a low diamond, and West's king forced out dummy's ace. South couldn't afford to ruff a diamond in order to lead another club towards dummy. West would put up the ace of clubs and lead another diamond to force declarer's last trump. Dummy's queen of clubs would then block the suit.

There was a safe way to play the hand, and South properly adopted it. Upon winning with dummy's ace of diamonds, he returned the queen of clubs, thus giving up the finesse that he had been at such pains to take.

The defense was now helpless. West had to take the ace of clubs and could return a diamond to force out declarer's fourth trump. South could now give up another club trick and his last trump assured him a re-entry in order to cash the last two clubs.

30 Million Rats

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 13 (AP)—Taipei's health officials said yesterday Formosa's rat population has soared to 30 million. They said the number of cats is declining.

Two New Players Help France Win Bridge Tourney

Paris, Jan. 13 (AP)—Two relative newcomers to international bridge competition were given a major share of the credit today for France's triumph over the United States in the world contract bridge team tournament.

The French team posted a 342-288 international match point victory in the week-long, 224-hand tournament concluded last night after leading all the way. They dropped four points to the Americans in the final 24 hands yesterday for a day score of 40-36.

Pierre Chestem and Rene Bacherich, the fledglings on the French team, used their own highly complicated system of bidding. They sometime required a half hour to complete a bid.

The French had a lead of 4,540 points in the unofficial cumulative point score.

Stayman congratulated the winners. He said the Americans had not been at their best but the match would have been close regardless. The British won last year's tournament.

Youth Goes to Chair

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—William Byers, 19, died in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison last night for the murder of his girl friend's mother. He was chewing gum and displayed no emotion when he walked into the death chamber. The girl, Theresa Gresh, who was 15 at the time of the murder in March, 1954, is serving a sentence of 20 years to life in prison, the maximum for second degree murder. She was convicted of helping kill her mother, Mrs. Anna Gresh, 43. Byers was convicted of first degree murder.

Twaalfskill Elects Harold King President

Boyd, Netter Also Named

The Twaalfskill Club last night elected Harold F. King, one of its pioneer members, to the presidency for 1956 at last night's annual meeting.

Mr. King, who also holds the post of president of the Ulster County Seniors Golf Association succeeds Robert Umpley.

Other officers named were Austin Boyd Jr., vice-president, and Louis R. Netter, managing editor of The Daily Freeman, secretary-treasurer.

AN OUTSTANDING personality in Twaalfskill and county golf, Mr. King was one of the founders of the county seniors group.

He won the Class A crown in 1955 with a net score of 63 for 13 holes on the Twaalfskill links. In 1954, he tied for low net in

HAROLD F. KING

Class A with Bruff Olin of Woodstock on the village links. His wife is the current women's champion at Twaalfskill.

The new directors elected last night were Robert Herzog, James L. Quinn and Edward Minasian. The outgoing directors were Robert Umpley, Augustus Brinrier Jr. and Edwin O'Reilly.

THE HOLDOVER directors making up the nine-man board are Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker Jr., Robert S. Russell and Burton Davis.

Club members heard an encouraging financial report from the outgoing president, Mr. Umpley. The club is in good financial condition and has several applications for 1956 membership on file. The new water system has been completed.

Mr. King said there would be no changes in present club policy and he predicted another banner season for Twaalfskill in 1956.

The club also announced the signing at increase in salary. Alex Gerlak as club professional for the tenth straight year.

Mikan Ready For Comeback

Minneapolis, Jan. 13 (P)—George Mikan, picked as the best basketball player of the half century in an Associated Press poll five years ago, is coming out of retirement. He will don a Minneapolis Laker uniform again tomorrow night in an NBA game here against Fort Wayne.

Mikan, who has been the Lakers' general manager since going onto the sidelines in 1954, said his decision was prompted by letters from some 1,500 fans in the past six months.

"The point was made that, since I had asked people of this area to back the Lakers, I should practice what I preach and try to give the team a boost," the 32-year-old Mikan said. "If I can just help to win a few games I will be contributing something toward winning back the support the team has had in the past."

Dons to Tie Win Mark

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

The all-conquering San Francisco Dons, who in little more than a year have bounded out of obscurity to become the top team in major college basketball, shoot for a record-equalling 39th consecutive victory tonight—Friday, the 13th.

The Dons make their play for a spot in the record books against Fresno State. And it doesn't figure to be a black Friday for Coach Phil Woolpert's powerhouse.

TWO SEASONS AGO San Francisco was classified as a small college, missing out in a bid for the NAIA season-end tournament. Last season, the Dons erupted, rolling to the NCAA championship against the big boys.

Now with a 12-0 record this season and 38 straight over all, the Dons are on the threshold of tying the all-time major college mark set by Long Island University in 1935-37 and matched by Seton Hall in Bob Davies' heyday in 1939-41.

While the Dons were idle last night, North Carolina State, third ranked in the nation, went to work to regain some lost prestige and came off with a 73-64 victory over Maryland. The Wolfpack, who dropped from second to third in the Associated Press poll when Duke snapped their winning streak at 23 games last weekend, had to get a move on to outlast a closing surge by the Terps.

KENTUCKY, 5th ranked, had a breeze, swatting Tulane 85-63. Furman, however, had to scamper to beat Davidson 72-70 in a Southern Conference game, and Houston dumped Tulsa 69-60 in a Missouri Valley Conference contest.

NC State led by 23 points midway in the second half before the Terps dropped their deliberate style and caught fire to close the gap to 67-62 with about a minute to play. Two quick baskets put State beyond reach. Utah, ranked No. 20, whipped Denver 83-72 with Art Bunte scoring 38 and New Mexico defeated Montana 73-50 in a pair of Skyline games; Rhode Island topped New Hampshire 81-63 to break a nine-game losing streak; Western Kentucky defeated Midwestern (Tex.) 66-65 on Forest Able's field goal with 12 seconds left; Marshall beat Ohio U. 72-63, and Hampden-Sydney defeated Virginia Military 76-63.

Joe O'Brien Top Harness Winner

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 13 (P)—Joe O'Brien, for the second straight year, is the Grand Circuit's leading race driver and money-winner.

The Del Mar, Calif. reinsman copped the 1955 titles by winning 58 races and purses totalling $219,957. In 1954, he collected $218,837 and won 80 races.

O'Brien, with a late season spurt, edged Wayne (Curly) Smart of Delaware, Ohio, who had 53 wins. Billy Haughton of Massachusetts, N. Y., third with 51 wins, was second in the money-won group with $199,688.

O'Brien won most of his money behind Scott Frost, the great three-year-old trotter named "Harness Horse of the Year."

Wings Blank Rangers, 6-0

(By The Associated Press)

The New York Rangers are the most improved club in the opinion of most experts.

But can the Chicago Black Hawks be far behind? The Hawks, a poor last in 1954-1955, picked up a new coach, Dick Irvin, and half a dozen new players in the off-season. And today, they were in fourth place, a position many observers didn't think they'd reach all year.

A 5-0 victory over the Boston Bruins last night moved the Chicago team into the No. 4 slot one point ahead of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Rangers got off on the wrong foot in the first game of a nine-game road trip, bowing to the Detroit Red Wings 6-0 in the night's only other action.

Ulster Coaches 'Robbed' at Wallkill

Cronk Benefit Proves Giveaway For Orange Five Gill's Squad 'Wins' Before Crowd, 56-53

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Orange county coaches defeated the Ulster coaches, 56-53, in the Ken Cronk benefit last night before a packed house at Wallkill Central school gym.

The promotion engineered by Vinnie DeAngelis and Sonny Santorine was a howling success, artistically and financially. Strictly for the records, though, as coach of the Ulster squad we want to get these observations on the record:

"WE WERE ROBBED." "We challenge 'Bo' Gill's outfit to a return game on the Ontario Central court on a winner take all basis."

Pardon us for being cynical, but it looked to us that the Ken Cronk benefit turned into a "benefit" for "Bo" Gill and the Orange coaches. Gill arrived in Wallkill about 10 minutes ahead of us and by that time had the referees—Vinnie DeAngelis and Jack Blume—wrapped up in a neat package. The amount of cash involved in the transaction was not disclosed. Midway in the game, Referee Blume refused a slick 20-dollar bill we offered him. That should give you an idea.

WE DID COMMIT one piece of bad strategy. Leading by 17-14 at the end of the first period—and with the situation well in hand—we removed the varsity and called on the Blockbusters—Jack Kroh, Frank Hamblet, Ed McGrath, Andy Shekita and Bob Relyea. They busted all over the place—exactly two points in the second quarter and at halftime we trailed 34-19. We scored a layup once on a controversial play. The two points went up on the scoreboard, but by the time the teams reached the other end of the court, Coach Johnny Marone of Walden had talked Referee Blume out of the shot. Later we scored a couple more that never made the scoreboard. We could tell you more... but, you know how it is.

WE HAD THEM on the run at the finish. Another minute and we would have crushed them. A couple of characters from Pine Bush—John Sloan and Jim McIntyre—broke our backs. Sloan ran like a reindeer and scored 21 points. McIntyre hit 12.

Coach Buddy Smith of Saugerties High led our team with 21 points. Bill Straub and Sonny Santorine each hit 9. It was a helluva show and netted around $400 for the Wallkill Central athlete who was stricken with polio. "Bo" Gill, the hero of Orange county, was funnier than a one-armed paper hanger.

But, the next time, we'll murder him. Nets Century Goal Buffalo (P)—Chuck Blair, right wing for the Buffalo Bisons, scored the 100th goal of his American Hockey League career against the Springfield team.

Old Pro on Spree

Ferraro Sets Records With 288-701 in Major

Fires 10 Strikes In Middle Game

The old pro was on the war-path again in the Ferraro Major League.

John Ferraro, Sr. obliterated a couple of his own records with a 288 solo and 701 triple and narrowly missing a perfect "300" score.

His 701 eclipsed his own 700 and the 288 bettered the 278 he rolled a few weeks ago. His other sets were 202 and 211 as he boosted his league-leading average around the 198 mark. In the 288 game, Ferraro reeled off 10 strikes in a row before failing to "come up" on alley 13 to leave the 1-2 setup.

DESPITE FERRARO'S heroic pinning, his Nadler Motors squad dropped three straight games to a red-hot Petersen Construction combine that piled up a hefty 2954 on slams of 906-1043 and 1005.

Sponsor Larry Petersen set the pace for his squad with 233-232-633. George Shufeldt furnished 245-210-622 and Harold Broskie posted a hot trick 205-208-211-624.

Dick Howard slammed 219-215-612, Charlie Manfro 234-611, Randy Kelder 201-255-605, Jerry Oster 264-205-648, Buster Ferraro 210-221-612.

FRANK LESKIE fired 200-587, Larry Weishaup 213-555, John Bailey 210-511, Fred Rice 512, Russ Lombardo 515, Joe Misasi 213-582, Joe McGrane 536.

Joe Ruzzo toppled 232-592, Tom Amato 538, Frank Grimaldi 216-546, Ken Joseph 512, Elwood Robinson 532, George Robinson 542, Ad Jones 200-540, Harry Wilber 205-225-573, Whitey Crispell 201-549.

Chris Gallo pounded 515, Jackie Ferraro 200-216-589, Tom Carlinio 575, Bruce Davis 520, Leo Bechtold 551, Vern Vandusen 502, Russ Birchall 211-573, William Murray 537.

Team results: Nadler Motors 0, Petersens 3; Boulevard Gulf 2, Capri 1; Jones Dairy 1, Gov. Clinton Market 2; Rheingold 3, Hercules 0.

Wiltwyck CC Reelects Bailey, Hankinson, Shufeldt, Rifenburg, LeFevre to Board

J. Watson Bailey, Wiltwyck Country Club vice-president, was among five directors re-elected for three-year terms at the annual meeting of stockholders.

Stanley Hankinson, club secretary, was also re-elected, along with A. B. "Dan" Shufeldt, Dr. George C. Rifenburg and Ernest LeFevre.

Other members of the 15-man Board of Directors, besides President Arthur A. Davis are: Wilson C. Ingalls, treasurer; Ivan Whitmore, Alford D. Ronder, William Zwick, Dr. Chester B. Van Gaasbeek, Louis G. Bruhn, Maurice Davenport, Robert H. Daley and Arthur Organtini. The board will meet in the near future to elect officers. Stockholders were told that the Wiltwyck layout will represent an investment of approximately $400,000 when it is completed.

Total membership, including junior, non-resident and social is nearly 450, with approximately 375 senior golf memberships.

The main clubhouse is expected to be ready for occupancy in April and ceremonies are planned in conjunction with formal opening of the club.

A total of 71 votes were represented at the meeting. A few nominations from the floor received only scattered support.

Singles Classic Sunday

Sixteen of the city's top kегlers will compete in a Singles Classic scheduled to start Sunday at 4 p. m. at Ferraro's Bowldrome.

The winner will be regarded as city champion for 1956.

Heading the field is the Ferraro family of John Ferraro, Jackie Ferraro and Buster Ferraro.

Other entries include Larry Weishaupt, Jerry Oster, Chris Gallo, John Schatzel, Frank Leskie, Larry Petersen Jr., George Shufeldt, Tom Amato, Charlie Manfro, Tom Carlino, Tim Billy, Bill Lawrence and Fred Ferraro.

MATCHES WILL BE DECIDED on the Petersen point system, with a point for each game won and a point for each 50 pins, with carryovers from game to game.

Weekly matches consisting of four games will be rolled every Sunday at 4 p. m. Each entry rolls the other a four-game set for a total of 60 games in 15 weeks.

A rules meeting has been scheduled for 3 p. m. at which time the schedule, prizes and other details will be decided, including election of officers.

The classic will be rolled in doubles, with two players on each alley. All kегlers with averages of 180 or better are invited to join the league.

It is believed that eventually all contestants will be sponsored.

Lightburn 10-7 Over Joey Lopes

San Francisco, Jan. 13 (P) — Joey Lopes, needing a victory to stay in contention for a crack at the lightweight crown, goes into the ring tonight a 10-7 underdog against Ludwig Lightburn.

The fight will be televised nationally at 10 p. m., EST.

Lightburn, a flashy straight-in-and-hit type of boxer from British Honduras, could drop his Sacramento, Calif., opponent out of 10th place among the 135 pounders.

Lightburn is ranked seventh.

Archery Club Names Delavan President; Plans for 1956

Jack Delavan, the club champion, was elected president of the Kingston Archery Club last night.

Other officers named were: Harold Conlin, vice president; Vince Secor, secretary-treasurer and Gus Stopski, field captain.

Jack Parnett and Pat Scarscelli were named directors.

MOVIES OF deer hunting with bow and arrow were shown. Plans were discussed for the 1956 season and members approved a schedule of competitive shoots with other member clubs of the newly-formed Southern District Archery Federation which includes the mid-Hudson area.

Helfand Sets Jan. 19 Hearing For Defiant Guild Officials

New York, Jan. 13 (P) — The rush of fight managers to desert the Boxing Guild of New York continued today as Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, set a Jan. 19 hearing on charges against the Monday night television fights from St. Nicholas Arena.

Helfand's office announced last night that 29 members had left the broken Guild and many more had called to ask about the proper procedure of resigning. Another batch of resignations was expected in today's mail.

THE SPECIFIC charges against Matchmaker Tex Sullivan, Treasurer Willie Gilzenberg and the London Sporting Club which promotes at St. Nick's were expected to be the "convincer" for the managers who can't make up their minds.

Sullivan and Gilzenberg were hit with eight charges and the London Sporting Club with seven as the two men were ordered to appear Thursday at 10 a. m. (EST) to show cause why their licenses and the club's license shouldn't be revoked.

Helfand charged Sullivan and Gilzenberg with "conspiring with persons convicted of crime, bookmakers, gamblers and persons of similar pursuit" in violation of state law. Last week at a press conference he accused the St. Nick's promoters of associating with men with criminal records in attempting to move their operations to Baltimore, effective Jan. 23.

THE TWO ALSO were charged with trying to move to Baltimore as a "subterfuge" to enable Guild members to "circumvent and sabotage" the commission in its rule, forbidding membership in this Guild after Jan. 16. In effect, the men were charged by Helfand with conspiring to work with the Guild to knock out boxing in New York and move it out of the jurisdiction of the commission.

"We feel sure we've done nothing wrong," said Sullivan who also spoke for Gilzenberg. "There's nothing in the charges we're afraid to answer. We'll be glad to appear and give the public our side of the story."

OLYMPIC HOCKEY SQUAD SIZZLES

Canton, Jan. 13 (P) — The United States should be strongly represented in the coming Olympic hockey competitions.

The squad which will represent the country skated over two of the east's strongest teams in exhibition contests last night. It easily downed host St. Lawrence 6-0, but found stronger competition in Clarkson which it finally defeated 4-2.

Clarkson has won nine straight in college competition.

The exhibitions of two 15-minute periods each, were part of a long program of pee-wee, high school and college hockey for the benefit of the Olympic fund. About 3,000 turned out.

ALBERTS NAMED NEW 49er COACH

San Francisco, Jan. 13 (P) — Frankie Albert, the erstwhile wizard of the T-formation, yesterday was named head coach of the San Francisco 49ers professional football club.

Frankie, in his first job as a head coach with only one season as an assistant to Red Strader, who coached the 49ers to a disastrous season in 1955, told a news conference he would field a "colorful, representative team."

But, running the team — at least in the field — will be nothing new for Frankie. It was well known that Buck Shaw, the 49ers head coach until last year, gave his star quarterback a free rein at handling the offensive strategy.

ST. MARY'S LEADS SHUFFLE LEAGUE

St. Mary's Society defeated the Knights of Columbus, 5-2, to open up a game lead over the Kingston "Power Boat Association" in the second round of the Intra-Fraternal shuffleboard league.

KPBA trimmed the Moose, 5-2, while Veterans of Foreign Wars shaded the Elks Club, 4-3.

HIGH POINT scorers for the night were Fgd Maurer, St. Mary's with 24; Mike Carpino, St. Mary's, and H. Johnson, Moose, with 22.

Sun rises at 7:23 a. m.; sun sets at 4:47 p. m., EST.
Weather: Cloudy

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 37 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 40 degrees.

Weather Forecast

NEW YORK CITY and vicinity: Cloudy with occasional light rain, probably becoming mixed with or changing to light snow this afternoon in western New Jersey and the northern suburbs and this evening in the city proper and on Long Island. Temperatures will fall slowly from the 30s this afternoon and to the 20s tonight and some slippery road conditions may develop as the temperature drops below freezing this evening. Some sunshine and cold Saturday with afternoon temperatures in low 30s.

CLOUDY AND THREATENING

EASTERN New York: Occasional rain in the southeast today and intermittent snow mixed with sleet and freezing rain in the north and west portions; high 25 to 32 in the west and 32 to 38 in the east. Rain ending in the southeast tonight and changing to snow flurries in the north and west and continuing tomorrow. Cloudy in the southeast tomorrow. Low tonight in the 20s in the north and west and near 30 in the southeast. High tomorrow 25 to 30 in the west, 30 to 35 in the east portion.

Upstate Gets Sleet

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Highway and utility crews in central and north New York struggled today to clear up traffic, telephone and power problems caused by a severe sleet storm. More than 100 telephones were knocked out in the Tug Hill area near Lowville when ice formed on the lines. Power lines of the Niagara Mohawk Corp. were down in scattered areas near Lowville and Syracuse. Several schools were closed in the Syracuse and Utica areas because of slippery roads.

Will Quit Godfrey Show

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—Paul Blaufox, Arthur Godfrey's chief talent scout, says he is planning to leave the Godfrey troupe—but not because of any trouble with the red-haired TV star. In an interview last night, Blaufox, with Godfrey the past five years, said: "I'm quitting because I want to do something better. I want to produce. I will stay with Godfrey until I find something else—and that might take two weeks or two years. Godfrey's been a swell guy to me but I'm capable of something better than fishing out talent in night clubs."

ILGWU Approves Pay Increases

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—The International Ladies Garment Workers Union yesterday approved a new contract covering some 18,000 workers employed by blouse manufacturing firms in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

A spokesman for Local 25 of the union said the new pact would provide pay raises to $6.50 for workers in the low minimum level during the course of a three-year contract. The spokesman said the contract also provides for a six per cent increase for piece workers who now average $60 to $70 weekly.

The agreement, ratified by union members, becomes effective March 1.
Present wages range from $32 weekly for cleaners to $79.50 for cutters.

The firms involved, members of the National Assn. of Blouse Manufacturers, sell 70 per cent of the blouses made in the United States.

Bills Ready . . .

this explanation of the proposed legislation:

"All cases involving young persons aged between 16 and 21 who are eligible for youthful offender treatment would be handled under one jurisdiction—the county courts and the Court of General Sessions in New York county (Manhattan). These courts would then have the authority to deal with the cases from start to finish."

"AT PRESENT, such cases are handled in what (a) subcommittee has called 'an amazing number' of different courts, including the Supreme Court, the county courts, the Court of General Sessions, the Court of Special Sessions of New York city, the Magistrate's Court of New York city, some 3,000 justices of the peace and police justices, over 60 city courts, each with its own processes and type of justice."

"It would apply to young offenders aged 16 to 21 who are not charged with the commission of crimes punishable by death or life imprisonment. Those between 18 and 21 who have been previously convicted of a felony would not be eligible."

THE PROPOSED legislation was based on the work of the commission's Subcommittee on Youth and the Family in the Courts, headed by Murray I. Gurfein, former Manhattan assistant district attorney.

A similar bill introduced in the Legislature on commission recommendation last year was not reported out of committee during the 1955 session.

ren, reelected secretary; Herman C. Schwenk, immediate past president. Directors elected for three-year terms included George Mustaparta, J. Ellis Briggs, and Dr. George F. Bushnell.

Following the ritual of installation, Lt. Governor Bennett presented two awards to retiring president Herman C. Schwenk. The first award came from the International President of Kiwanis and was given for outstanding leadership and attainment of the membership goal during 1955. The second award was the outstanding leadership award from the New York District of Kiwanis International.

South Still Cool

Miami, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP)—The great Atlantic storm that has pumped arctic air into the tropics for six consecutive days is slowly breaking up, but weather forecasters can't see the end of the one of the longest sustained cold spells in south Florida history. In its five-day forecast released this morning, the Miami Weather Bureau said a slow warming trend will begin Sunday but temperatures will continue to be "much below normal" through next Wednesday.

Grand Jury Hearing Brink Case

a long money counting room and approached the locked mesh wire door of the caged vault room.

FIVE MALE employees were busy handling the money collected that day. It was then 7 p. m.

When the robbers pushed guns through the mesh door, the guards were so situated that their own guns were out of reach on a wall rack. Also out of immediate reach was a buzzer that would have sounded a police alarm.

The robbers forced the five employees to lie face down on the floor, bound and gagged them and then pushed money into what appeared to be large laundry sacks.

THE GUARDS said later that all the men were either rubbers or crepe soled shoes to muffle their footsteps and only the leader did any talking.

The FBI head said that before fleeing with the loot, the robbers tried to open a metal box containing the huge General Electric Co. payroll but were unsuccessful. No figure on the size of the payroll was given by the FBI.

Hoover said the men unloaded their loot at the home of one of the participants in the Roxbury district and was divided among the men several weeks later.

DURING the long investigation, all the men named yesterday, except Faherty, had been questioned at one time or another by investigators. Some of the men even went before a federal grand jury investigating the Brink's robbery about four years ago, but that jury failed to return any indictments.

John D. Allen, chairman of the Brink's board, said in Chicago "This is a happy day for us."

He said: "A happy day, yes, but not a surprising one to us. From the day of the robbery we have been confident of two things: first, that no Brink's employees were involved, and second, that the guilty would be apprehended."

U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell said in Washington that the federal government turned the Brink's robbery case over to the state because state penalties are heavier.

The report described 4-H Club work in dairy and livestock programs, poultry, gardening, home-making, clothing, foods, home improvement, home management, health and safety, camping, etc., and its minor projects such as pheasants, forestry, tractor, electrical, mechanical and livestock.

UNDER A SECTION entitled "Looking Ahead to 1956" Mr. Bower pointed out that a clothing training school was being planned, including information on construction as well as choice of accessories—and modeling. Dress revues will be held in several divisions again this year, a clothing revue will be held at the county fair and a clothing judging contest is on the agenda. In April an "improved rooms" tour is planned. Also on the agenda:

Officers training school, Feb. 13; encouragement for new Ulster County 4-H Club Leaders and Agents Association by the agents; increased publicity for 4-H events; special attention to club organization and leader and member visits and improvement of county-wide activities.

Bills Ready Would Safeguard On Litterbugs

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Conservation spokesmen here say that a proposed program to improve the Adirondack and Catskill forest preserves should contain safeguards to keep the preserves from being overrun by "tin-can tourists."

Fears that the program might open the state's wildlife and wilderness sanctuaries to "litterbugs" and others not appreciative of their worth were expressed at a public hearing yesterday.

The hearing was the third in a series of five being held by the Joint Legislative Committee on natural resources.

A four-point program has been proposed by the committee to expand recreational facilities at the preserves and make them more accessible to the public.

Most of the approximately 20 witnesses who testified gave general approval to the program and commended the committee's objectives and work.

But they pointed out that an increase in recreational facilities could result in over-commercialization and increased fire hazards which could be met only by strong safeguards. The final two hearings will be held in New York, Jan. 19, and Albany, Jan. 24.

Watertown Editor Dies

Watertown, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—William H. Pearson, managing editor of the Watertown Times, died today at his home after an illness of several months. He was 41. Pearson had been managing editor of the evening newspaper since last April 2, when he succeeded the late Harry F. Landon. Prior to that, he had been assistant managing editor for six years. Pearson joined The Times in 1941. For five years, he was the paper's legislative correspondent in Albany.

Estes Opens Campaign

Boston, Jan. 13 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination is actively underway in New England. The Democrat from Tennessee made two speeches in Massachusetts and met with Mayor John B. Hynes of Boston yesterday. Hynes supported Kefauver in the senator's unsuccessful bid for the presidential nomination four years ago.
